Creating a Spending Plan or Budget

Once you have listed all of your expenses and income, you can make a spending plan or budget for your household. To do this, figure out which of your expenses are fixed (they don't vary from month to month, for example a car payment or rent) or flexible (the payment changes on a monthly basis). You should also consider some of those occasional or periodic expenses like presents for a birthday party or money for a field trip for your child.

Using the information above, total your monthly income and subtract total monthly expenses. This is your household's disposable income for each month.

After you have determined your disposable income, you may want to ask yourself these questions:

- Do I have enough to save a little from each paycheck?
- Can I think of ways to reduce spending?
- Are there places that I can get some extra help - such as paying for food, utilities, child care, health care or other expenses?

This guide provides important information about a variety of different resources available in the community that can help.

In thinking about your budget, it is also very important to think about items that are essential for you or your family as well as things you like to have. These items are known as "needs" and "wants."

Needs are essentials—the basics of life we cannot live without. This may include things like paying for rent or mortgage, utilities, car payments, insurance, making the minimum payment on your credit card, or other things.

Wants are any items, activities, or services that can increase quality of life, but are not absolutely necessary.

When looking at your budget, which items do you currently spend money on that are needs and which items do you consider wants? Are there opportunities to reduce some of those costs? Below are some possible tips for reducing some costs:

- Reduce a rent payment by applying for rental assistance, subsidized housing, or re-financing
- Heating and cooling costs may be reduced by insulating or cutting back on use
- Cable, telephone, cell phone and Internet providers have many plans from which to select affordable services
- Grocery expenses may be reduced by participating in food pantry programs, enrolling in the Food Stamp program and by enrolling in the free and/or reduced school lunch programs
- Automobile insurance rates can be compared for coverage and costs
- Car pool or purchase transportation passes at a reduced rate
- Supplement purchases with a clothes closet, thrift store, or consignment facility
- Secure help from local church day camps or day care programs
- Get haircuts and nail services at reduced cost by cosmetology schools
- Look for banks and credit unions that offer free checking and account services
- Seek help through free tax preparation sites and save upwards of $450 on your taxes

Savings

Ideally, people have some form of savings that they can turn to in tough financial times. However, this is sometimes very difficult to do. The best strategy is to put some money aside each week that can be used for unexpected expenses, emergencies, or for your future (e.g., education, job training).

It is recommended that you have enough in savings to cover three to six months of your living expenses. It's easier to save if you make a habit of it. For example, it is more beneficial to save $10 a month than to save $25 now and then.

A special type of savings is a retirement plan. Many people think about using their retirement savings during a time of crisis. You should be very cautious about doing so.

Remember, the longer your savings have to grow interest, particularly compound interest, the more money you will have when you retire. Your retirement funds will determine what kind of lifestyle you can afford once you stop working.

Below are some ways people save for retirement:

INDIVIDUAL RETIREMENT ACCOUNTS (IRAS)

You may have an IRA through a bank or financial institution or participate in one through an employer. An IRA is a retirement savings account that also provides tax benefits. In a traditional IRA, your money is taxed only when you take it out to retire. Alternatively, with a Roth IRA, you pay taxes as you contribute funds, and do not owe any at the end.

PENSIONS

A pension is a retirement benefit provided by employers for their retired employees.

401(K) PLANS

A 401(k) plan is a retirement plan offered to employees by their employers. Similar to a traditional IRA, you can defer paying taxes on the funds you add until you withdraw the money. Your money is invested in stocks or bond funds, and employers often match your contributions.

403(B) PLANS

A 403(b) plan is a retirement plan for certain employees of public schools, tax-exempt organizations, and ministers. Like a 401(k) plan, employers can match the amount employees save, and there are tax benefits.

Before moving any money out of these retirement plans, be sure to talk to a financial expert especially because there are often taxes on such actions.

Benefits & Income Supports

Determining Eligibility For Benefits

Figuring out which government supports you might be eligible for is an important step in taking control of your situation. However, applying for benefits can take time. Rather than waiting to find out about these benefits until you are in a crisis situation, you may wish to consider familiarizing yourself with the benefits that may be available to you and getting the application process underway.

A great place to start is: www.mybenefits.ny.gov. Using this website, you can get information on each of the items below:

- Help with buying food
- Temporary Assistance (TANF)
- Special tax credits
- Home Energy Assistance Programming (HEAP)
- Help for Women, Infants and Children (WIC)
- Prescription drug insurance coverage for seniors
- Various health insurance programs for individuals, families, and children

The mybenefits.org website will ask some basic questions about your family, your money and your bills. The questions will take about 10 minutes to answer and your personal information is not saved on the computer.

If you would like help with determining if you are eligible, you can also visit one of several local agencies with access to Seedco's EarnBenefits.

Seedco's EarnBenefits is a web-based program designed to help you get benefits that can free up your money to handle other bills and costs. EarnBenefits can tell you if you appear to qualify and can help you apply by helping you fill in the forms.

Government Benefits & Other Assistance

If you are experiencing financial difficulties, there are a number of benefits available through New York State, the Erie County Department of Social Services (ECDSS), and community agencies throughout Erie County.

Temporary Assistance to Needy Families (TANF) offers help for an urgent need situation. You may seek these funds if:

- You are homeless
- You have received an eviction notice
- You do not have fuel for heating during the cold weather period
- Your utilities are shut off or are about to be shut off

Unemployment Insurance

If you have lost your job or are working only part-time, you may also want to apply for Unemployment Insurance. These funds are paid by your previous employer regardless of your financial status and are based on your previous earnings. In order to receive this benefit, you must have earned a certain amount of money while you were working and be actively looking for a new job. Eligibility is determined on a case by case basis so you should not assume that you are not eligible without filing a claim. You should apply immediately after losing a job, either permanently or temporarily. As with all benefits, it may take up to a few weeks to get your first check.

The New York State Department of Labor has a website where you can apply for Unemployment Insurance online at: <https://ui.labor.state.ny.us>. You may also apply by calling toll-free at 1-888-209-8124 from 8:00 am to 5:00 pm, Monday through Friday.

Food

Food and proper nutrition are particularly important during times of stress. However, they are also among the first things that individuals and families neglect during times of uncertainty. Government food assistance benefits may be available to you, depending on your income and financial situation. In addition, their private programs can provide low-cost food to help you stretch your budget. Below is a list of food-related assistance available to people experiencing financial challenges in our community.

The Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), also known as Food Stamps, is a federal program that helps individuals and families buy food. Families can be eligible for Food Stamps even if they make too much money to qualify for other benefits. Food Stamps are provided in the form of an Electronic Benefit Transfer (EBT) card that you use at your local grocery store to buy food. The amount you receive each month depends on your household size and income.

You can pick up an application at the Department of Social Services (DSS) office at 158 Pearl Street, 1st Floor, or you may call 716-858-8000 and request that an application be sent to you.

Women, Infants & Children Supplementary Food Program (WIC) is a federal program that provides women, infants and children with healthy food and nutrition education in order to improve their health and diet. The program is for pregnant and nursing women, infants and children who are at risk for malnutrition and poor health. You can receive WIC even if you are receiving Food Stamps. The amount of WIC you receive depends on your household size and income. WIC gives you vouchers that you can use to buy food at your local grocery store.

To apply, visit your local WIC office. To find a location near you, contact Catholic Charities of Buffalo at 716-332-3304 or 716-332-0830 or visit www.ccwny.org.

Angel Food Ministries provides food for a low cost in pre-packed meals that assist in feeding a family of four for about one week, or a single senior citizen for almost a month. The food is of the same quality as items found in the grocery store – no seconds or damaged items. Each month's menu is different from the previous and consists of both fresh and frozen items. There are no qualifications, minimums, income restrictions, or applications. For emergency housing after 5 pm, call Crisis Services at 716-834-3131.

DSS will require court papers or a letter from your landlord indicating that legal action will be taken if you do not pay the debt. The letter from your landlord should list the specific months for which you are in arrears and the specific amounts of rent you owe.

- If you have a child under 17 who lives with you for more than half of the year, you may qualify for the Child Tax Credit with certain additional qualifications.

- Finally, you may be able to claim the Hope or Lifetime Learning Education credits if you have paid qualified tuition expenses in the past year.

Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) programs provide IRS-certified volunteers to prepare tax returns for eligible families at no cost. Dial 2-1-1 (dial 2-1-1 or 1-888-696-9211) to find a free tax preparation site near you.

Benefits for People With Injuries, Illnesses or Disabilities

Workers Compensation Insurance is a disability insurance program which provides compensation to covered employees for loss of pay because of accidental injury or a job related illness sustained during employment. It also compensates dependents in the event of death. If you are injured on the job, notify your employer immediately. For more information, contact the local Workers Compensation Board at 369 Franklin Street, Buffalo, NY 14202 or 866-211-0645 or visit: www.wcb.state.ny.us.

If you are injured or disabled while not on the job, you may be eligible for New York State Disability Insurance. The Disability Benefits Law provides weekly cash benefits to replace part of the wages lost due to illness or injury not related to employment. Disability benefits include cash payments only; medical care is not included. For more information, call the New York State Workers Compensation Board at 1-800-353-3092.

Social Security Disability Insurance pays benefits to you and certain members of your family if you are "insured," meaning that you have worked long enough and paid Social Security taxes, and is based on financial need. It is designed to help aged, blind, and disabled people who have little or no income by providing cash to meet basic needs for food, clothing, and shelter.

When a person who has worked and paid Social Security taxes dies, certain members of their family may qualify for Survivors Benefits. Up to ten years of work is needed to be eligible for benefits, depending on the person's age at the time of death.

APPLYING FOR BENEFITS

You can apply online for these programs at www.socialsecurity.gov, by phone at 1-800-772-1213, or in person at the local Social Security office at: Suite 100, 186 Exchange Street, Buffalo, NY 14204. If you are deaf or hard of hearing, you can call TTY 1-800-325-0778.

Credit

Addressing Credit

Credit is critically important for purchasing or renting a home, getting a car, and even financing a college education. It can come in many forms, including credit cards, charge cards, car loans, mortgage loans, home equity loans, personal loans, consolidation loans, student loans, and many more – and comes from many different sources: banks and credit unions, credit card companies, and stores.

Always remember, when using credit, you are essentially taking out a “loan” and relying on the fact that you will be able to pay that loan in the future regardless of what is happening in your life. There is always a certain amount of risk associated with doing that. To purchase an item on credit means that to get that item right now, you are willing to pay extra for it – in most cases.

Credit Reports & Credit Scores

Anytime you apply for credit, the lender makes an inquiry on your credit report. A credit report contains a variety of information about you including personal identifying information such as:

- Your full name and any aliases
- Current and previous addresses
- Social Security Number
- Marital Status
- Date of Birth
- Current and previous places of employment

The credit report also includes information that is a matter of public record including any bankruptcies, tax liens, and any judgments that have been filed against you as well as a list of creditors who have extended you credit, what you currently owe them, and whether you have paid your accounts on time.

Most banks, credit unions, finances companies, and mortgage lenders report information to one or more credit bureaus - the companies that maintain credit reports. These credit bureaus include Experian, Equifax, and TransUnion.

In addition to your credit report, you also have a credit score. Your credit score is based on the information contained in your credit report. The most commonly used credit score is called a FICO score, which is based on a calculation created by Fair Isaac and Company. The FICO score ranges from 300-850. This score is based on the following:

- Your payment history – Have you paid your accounts on time?
- Your outstanding debt – What percentage of the credit available to you are you currently using?
- Your credit history – How long have your accounts been open?
- Credit Applications – How much credit have you applied for, and how many inquires have been made in the last twelve months?
- New lines of credit – How many new lines of credit have you actually opened in the last twelve months?
- Your credit mix – what type of credit has been extended to you?

Interestingly, your income is not a factor in determining your credit score. Any score over 700 is considered a good score and likely to qualify the person for credit. The higher the score, the better the credit terms and the lower the interest rate; the lower the score, the higher the interest.

IT IS IMPORTANT THAT YOU REGULARLY CHECK YOUR CREDIT REPORT TO ENSURE THAT THERE ARE NO ERRORS OR OUTSTANDING ISSUES THAT YOU NEED TO BE AWARE OF.

Checking on Your Credit Status

To check your credit status, you can go to www.annualcreditreport.com, call 1-877-3222-8228, or request write to Annual Credit Report Request Service, PO Box 105281, Atlanta, GA 30348-5281. If you request your credit report by mail, you need to do so by filling out a form which is available at the Federal Trade Commission's website: www.ftc.gov/credit.

You can also request a copy of your credit report by contacting any of the three credit bureaus. Be aware that you will not receive a copy of your credit score when receiving a free credit report. You will need to pay extra for your credit score.

Beyond reviewing your credit report, lenders may also ask you a series of questions when applying for credit:

- Are you employed? How long have you been in your job?
- How much money do you make each month?
- What are your monthly expenses?
- How much money do you have in your checking and saving accounts?
- Do you own a house?
- Do you have any investments or other assets (e.g., car)?
- How you had credit in the past?
- How many credit accounts do you have?
- How you ever been denied credit?
- How you ever filed for bankruptcy?
- Have you had any outstanding judgments, had property repossessed, or been foreclosed upon?
- Have you ever made late payments?

Always keep in mind that lenders including banks and credit card companies are in the business of lending you money. Because credit lending is a business, sometimes lenders don't act in your best interest when making a personal credit loan to you. For example, they may offer you a larger line of credit than you feel comfortable with in an effort to get you to increase your spending.

CHECKING YOUR CREDIT REPORT

It is also important to check your credit report for errors. Common inaccuracies include confusion of people with common names, similar Social Security Numbers, incorrect reporting periods, and unreported changes. Negative credit information, such as a bankruptcy or unpaid debts, remains on your credit report long after it occurs. Bankruptcies stay on credit reports for up to ten years, while judgments and liens remain for seven years.

If you believe there is an error in your credit report, contact the credit reporting agency in writing. Include a copy of your credit report with the items you believe are incorrect circled, as well as copies of any documents that support your position.

Before obtaining credit, ask yourself these questions:

- Do I need this?
- Do I need it now?
- Can I wait until I have cash to pay for it?
- How much more will I pay if I buy on credit?
- Can I afford the monthly payments?
- What is the total cost of credit?
- Are there any fees?
- What is the annual percentage rate?
- Am I really willing to pay more for this item?

If you are uncomfortable with the line of credit offered, tell the lender that you would prefer a smaller amount. It is better to secure a smaller amount of credit and pay it off regularly than to start with a larger reserve. Once you get credit:

BE SURE TO PAY OFF YOUR ENTIRE BILL EACH MONTH. If you can't, try to pay more than the minimum balance due. This will reduce finance charges and total interest paid. Remember, if you are only paying the minimum payment, it can take you 30 years to pay off $8,000 in debt!

PAY ON TIME TO AVOID LATE FEES AND PROTECT YOUR CREDIT. If you cannot pay on time, call your creditor immediately to explain the situation. They may waive late fees or be willing to make different payment arrangements.

ALWAYS CHECK YOUR MONTHLY STATEMENT TO VERIFY TRANSACTIONS. Call your creditor right away if you suspect errors in your statement.

IGNORE OFFERS LENDERS MAY SEND YOU TO "REDUCE" OR "SKIP" PAYMENTS. You will still be charged finance charges during this period.

THINK ABOUT THE COST DIFFERENCE IF YOU PURCHASE YOUR ITEM WITH CASH versus if you purchase your item with credit. Remember, if you purchase $400 stereo with a credit card with a 20% APR, it will cost 1,084 and take 9 years to pay the $10 minimum monthly payments.

MAKE SURE YOU CHECK YOUR CREDIT REPORT EVERY YEAR from the annual credit report service. You may want to consider keeping track of your credit report throughout the year by requesting your report from one of the three credit bureaus every four months.

REMEMBER THAT CO-SIGNING ON A LOAN MEANS THAT YOU ARE JUST AS RESPONSIBLE FOR THE LOAN.

Talking to Creditors About Credit

You may decide that you need help to get your credit back in order. If you are in this situation, you will want to talk to your creditors before they contact you. Most creditors find it in their best interest not to repossess or pursue legal action. Instead, they frequently prefer to reschedule your payments, particularly if your payment record had been good in the past. Make your request to reduce monthly payments and interest rate in writing. Offer to pay whatever you can. If a creditor sends your account to a debt collection agency, you will have to work directly with that agency; this can make debt repayment more challenging. Your best bet is to address the situation before it happens.

If you need assistance with debt, be sure to work with agencies that are certified by the National Foundation for Credit Counseling. Many uncertified debt settlement agencies charge high, non-refundable, up-front fees and cannot fulfill their promises of clearing your debt.

Consumer Credit Counseling Services (CCCS) of Buffalo provides credit counseling, free financial education, workshops, and many other financial services, including negotiating with creditors to lower interest rates and minimum payments. Many services are free; some are available at low cost. Call 716-712-2060 for more information.

The following is an example of a letter you might send to a creditor or collection agency about your situation. It is always advisable to talk to a financial expert before sending such a letter. Sometimes, the agency can work with you to send it. Be sure to keep good written records of all your contacts with a creditor or collection agency.

RE: Credit Card or Account Number (if appropriate)

Dear Creditor,
Due to a layoff, I am temporarily out of work. As a result, I am experiencing financial difficulty. I have analyzed my current situation with _____ (Consumer Credit Counseling or other agency, if appropriate to mention).

After making a strict budget for my expenses, I find it necessary to ask each creditor to accept a reduced payment for the next three months. After that time, I anticipate being back to work and earning as usual.

I would appreciate your cooperation in making the payment plan work. In place of the regular payment of $xx, I request you accept payments of $xx per month during this emergency. I will pay before the 30th of the month.

You can be sure that I will assume normal payments as soon as possible. If there are any changes in my situation, I will notify you as soon as possible.

Sincerely,

Predatory Lending

LENDERS WHO USE UNFAIR OR DECEPTIVE TACTICS WITH BORROWERS ARE KNOWN AS PREDATORY LENDERS. BORROWERS WHO DO NOT HAVE PRIOR EXPERIENCE WITH LENDING OR ARE NOT FAMILIAR WITH STANDARD PRACTICES CAN BE SUSCEPTIBLE TO THESE LENDERS, AND TO UNREASONABLE LOAN AGREEMENTS. ADDITIONALLY, PREDATORY LENDERS TAKE ADVANTAGE OF BORROWERS WHO BADLY NEED LOANS, AND WILL THEREFORE, AGREE TO ANY TERMS.

Predatory lenders can be involved in short-term loans, payday loans, and mortgage loans. A predatory mortgage agreement will often have pre-payment penalties, a balloon payment structure, or extremely high interest rates. These agreements are often buried in complicated, technical language.

Use the following tips to avoid doing business with predatory lenders:

You may be tempted by ads and websites that guarantee loans or credit cards, regardless of your credit history. The catch comes when you apply for the loan or credit card and find out you have to pay a fee in advance. Ads that say “Bad credit? No problem” or “We don’t care about your past. You deserve a loan” or “Get money fast” or even “No hassle — guaranteed” often indicate a scam.

AVOID LOANS OFFERED BY TELEMARKETERS AND TRAVELING SALESPEOPLE. It is actually illegal to offer a loan by phone or without full and clear disclosure of fees associated. Never pay an individual any fees directly.

AVOID LENDERS WHO ASK FOR YOUR PERSONAL INFORMATION, such as your Social Security number or bank account number, without checking your credit history. They may use your information to debit your bank account to pay a fee they have not disclosed to you.

AVOID LOANS THAT REQUIRE YOU TO PAY A FEE FOR THE PROMISE OF A LOAN OR CREDIT CARD. Any up-front fee that the lender wants to collect before granting the loan is a cue to walk away, especially if you are told it is for “insurance,” “processing,” or just “paperwork.”

ALWAYS READ ALL LOAN AGREEMENTS PRIOR TO SIGNING and research lenders to find out if they have been accused of predatory lending in the past. Be especially aware of catchy names or slick looking websites.

MAKE SURE YOUR LENDER HAS A PHYSICAL ADDRESS IN YOUR STATE. A company that advertises a PO Box may not be legitimate. Lenders and loan brokers are required to register in the states where they do business. To check registration, call the New York Department of Banking at 1-877-BANKNYS.

ALWAYS DO YOUR HOMEWORK. If you are unsure, it is best to speak with a lawyer or financial expert before signing loan agreements, particularly for a mortgage.

DO YOU THINK YOU’VE BEEN A VICTIM OF PREDATORY LENDING?

If you think you’ve been the victim of predatory lending or other fraud, report it to the Federal Trade Commission (FTC). The FTC works to prevent fraudulent, deceptive and unfair business practices in the marketplace and to provide information to help consumers to spot, stop, and avoid them.

To file a complaint or get free information on consumer issues, visit ftc.gov or call toll-free, 1-877-FTC-HELP (1-877-382-4357); TTY: 1-866-653-4261.

Consumer Protections

The Federal Fair Debt Collection Law regulates debt collectors who contact you on behalf of your creditor (those to whom you owe money directly). Debt collection agencies are only allowed to call between 8:00 am and 9:00 pm, unless you agree otherwise. If you dispute the debt within thirty days in writing, the agency can only contact you again after sending verification of your debt. You can write a letter to a debt collection agency to ask them to stop calling you. After you make this request in writing, the agency can only contact you to tell you there will be no further contact, or that the agency or creditor is going to take a specific action.

The law prohibits collection agencies from the following:

- Using or threatening violence or criminal means to harm you
- Using obscene or profane language
- Advertising your debt for sale
- Calling you repeatedly or continuously with the intent to annoy or harass you
- Calling you without disclosing their identity

Similarly, the New York State Debt Collection Procedures Law regulates creditors, or those companies you directly owe.

The law prohibits creditors from the following:

- Communicating with a current or prospective employer about your debt without first obtaining a judgment against you
- Threatening to take an action that it cannot or would not normally undertake
- Threatening to collect a fee above the amount you owe
- Pretending to represent a judicial entity, or giving the appearance of being authorized or issued by a governmental entity
- Contacting you or a family member so often or at such unusual hours that it can be reasonably considered harassment

Bankruptcy

Bankruptcy is always a last resort. You should consider filing for bankruptcy only if your creditors are unwilling to negotiate your debts, you cannot obtain a home equity or consolidation loan, and if no other source of help is available. Once you declare bankruptcy, it will remain on your credit report for up to ten years and could impact whether or not you can get a job, can increase the interest rates on your loans or credit cards, and may prevent you from renting an apartment or being approved for a home loan.

There are two kinds of bankruptcy. Chapter 7 requires the liquidation of all of your assets, and is only available to those who qualify. Chapter 13 sets up a repayment process for your debts.

Before deciding about bankruptcy it is critically important that you speak with an expert who can help you. You should talk to staff from a nonprofit counseling agency or a lawyer before you decide to file for bankruptcy. Locally, you can contact Consumer Credit Counseling Services of Buffalo at 716-712-2060, the Legal Aid Bureau of Buffalo at 716-853-9555 or HomeFront at 716-856-2952.

Accessing Health & Dental Care

IT IS EXTREMELY IMPORTANT TO TAKE CARE OF YOURSELF AND TO ARRANGE FOR SOME FORM OF HEALTH COVERAGE BEFORE YOU NEED IT. FINDING COVERAGE YOU CAN AFFORD MAY BE DIFFICULT, BUT YOU DO HAVE SEVERAL OPTIONS AVAILABLE TO YOU.

If you have had medical coverage through an employer, you may have the right to keep your coverage at the group rate for up to 18 months after becoming unemployed. COBRA (Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1985) entitles you to arrange for this continued coverage through your employer within 60 days and pay a fee each month. If you are ineligible or cannot afford to pay for COBRA, you may be able to use one of the programs below. Contact your employer's Human Resources office to find out if you qualify.

Living under a lot of stress can lead to illness, and illness can make it more difficult for you to recover financially.

Medicaid is a program administered by the New York State Department of Health for individuals who can't afford health care. You might be eligible if you have high medical bills, if you receive Supplemental Security Income (SSI), or if you meet the financial requirements. To apply, visit the Erie County Department of Social Services at 158 Pearl Street, Buffalo, NY 14202 or call 716-858-8000.

There is also a Medicaid Buy-In Program for Working People with Disabilities. This program enables people with disabilities who work and earn more than the allowable limits for regular Medicaid the opportunity to retain their Medicaid coverage. Individuals with disabilities between the ages of 16 and 64 who are working full or part time may be eligible. Fees associated with this program vary according to income and health coverage provider. To apply, visit the Erie County Department of Social Services at 158 Pearl Street, Buffalo, NY 14202.

Individuals currently receiving Medicaid may be eligible for transportation services to Medicaid billable services. For more information, contact the Department of Social Services in the Rath Building at 158 Pearl Street, Buffalo, NY or 716-858-4877.

Finally, the Medicaid Cancer Treatment Program serves certain individuals who have been diagnosed with or are being treated for breast, cervical, colorectal or prostate cancer and are not eligible for other Medicaid programs. Eligible individuals must also meet income guidelines and not have other health coverage. For more information, contact 1-866-442-2262 (Cancer Services Program) or 1-800-541-2831 (Medicaid Help Line).

Children's Medicaid and Child Health Plus offers no cost or reduced cost medical insurance to children under the age of 19 who are residents of New York State. Whether a child qualifies for Children's Medicaid or Child Health Plus depends on gross family income. Children who are not eligible for Medicaid can enroll in Child Health Plus if they don't already have health insurance and are not eligible for coverage under the public employees' state health benefits plan. You may be charged premiums for Child Health Plus, depending on your family size and income. If you are accepted by either plan, you will be given a list of local medical providers that accept this coverage.

To apply for Children's Medicaid, call or visit:

Erie County Department of Social Services
95 Franklin Street
Buffalo, NY 14202
716-585-8000

or

Reducing Utility Costs

Heat, Energy, Telephone, Water & Others

IT IS ESPECIALLY IMPORTANT TO ENSURE THAT YOU MAINTAIN YOUR UTILITIES — ESPECIALLY DURING THE COLD WINTER MONTHS. THE RESOURCES LISTED BELOW CAN HELP YOU REDUCE COSTS OR ASSIST YOU DURING TIME OF ECONOMIC CHALLENGES.

Heat

National Fuel offers a number of payment options, assistance programs and special services to help make managing your utility bill payments easier. Experienced representatives can work with you and will help you find a payment plan or an assistance program.

Below is a listing of some of the programs and services specifically offered by National Fuel. For more information, visit: www.NationalFuelGas.com or call 1-800-365-3234 for more information.

DEFERRED PAYMENT AGREEMENT

If you are unable to make your payment, please talk to a representative at one of the Consumer Assistance Centers, or call 1-800-365-3234, as soon as possible. You may be asked to provide income and expense information. Based on that, National Fuel may be able to arrange a deferred payment agreement.

PAY ONLINE

National Fuel's utility customers can pay their bills online. Online payment is safe, secure, fast, easy and free. Receive and pay your bill, view your account history, make one-time payments, submit a meter reading, enroll in a Budget Plan and more.

ONE-TIME PAY

If your late payment date is coming quickly or you'd like to pay your gas bill quickly and easily, but do not want to sign up for an online account, you can do so via the One-Time Pay feature. Be sure to have your National Fuel account information and checkbook handy.

BUDGET PLAN

For many customers, having level and predictable monthly gas payments can make budgeting easier. The Budget Plan lets you stabilize your entire monthly bill for up to one year. The plan divides your estimated annual bill by 12 (or by the number of months you want your budget plan to be in effect). The average bill amounts are based on a combination of the cost of gas and weather conditions, plus historic and current gas usage. Since these factors can change, National Fuel may adjust your Budget Plan amount periodically to ensure that it remains accurate.

OTHER CONVENIENT WAYS TO MAKE PAYMENTS

Another quick and easy way to pay your bill is by mail. Simply send your check to National Fuel in the self-addressed envelope enclosed with your statement (or mail to National Fuel, P.O. Box 4103, Buffalo, NY 14264). If you prefer, you may pay your gas bill in person at a National Fuel Customer Assistance Center or any other authorized payment center. Visit www.NationalFuelGas.com for a list of locations.

Payment Assistance Programs

Depending on your circumstances, you may apply for a payment assistance program.

HOME ENERGY ASSISTANCE PROGRAM (HEAP)

HEAP is a federally funded program that provides assistance to eligible customers to pay their home heating bills. In New York, the Department of Social Services and the Department of Senior Services administer HEAP grants. Participation is based on gross monthly household income, household size and living situation. During the program year, representatives can help you obtain an application and tell you about current eligibility requirements. Visit www.HEAPhelps.com for more information.

The Erie County Department of Social Services' (DSS) Emergency Utility Assistance can also help pay utility costs for some individuals. If accepted and not currently receiving Public Assistance, DSS may pay up to four months of your past-due utility bills from the date you apply. If accepted and currently receiving Supplemental Security Income (SSI), DSS must pay four of the last ten months of your past-due utility bills from the date you apply. Additionally, DSS must turn utilities back on if they have been shut off, and guarantee that they are on for the next six months. To apply, contact Temporary Assistance at 716-858-6124 or at the Rath Building, 158 Pearl Street, 1st Floor, Buffalo, NY 14202.

NEIGHBOR FOR NEIGHBOR HEAT FUND

With this fund, you may receive a cash grant of up to $400 to pay past-due-energy bills if you are 60 or older, disabled or have a medical emergency. The Heat Fund provides grants that help people prevent disconnection of their utility service, pay current or past due energy bills, or purchase home heating fuel of any kind. Applicants must have made at least six payments to their heating bill within a 12-month period from the date of application, and monthly income and expenses will need to be verified.

WHERE TO GO FOR HELP

To find the nearest agency and determine the necessary documentation to bring to the application interview, call one of the following organizations:

THE SALVATION ARMY 716-883-9800, ext 230

THE CHAUTAUQUA COUNTY OFFICE FOR THE AGING 716-753-4385

CATHOLIC CHARITIES 716-856-4494 (under the age of 60), 716-896-6388 (60 and over).

ELDERLY, BLIND OR DISABLED PAYMENT-TROUBLED RESIDENTIAL ASSISTANCE

This special program is designed to assist payment-troubled customers who are at least 62 years of age, blind or disabled. Program features include a lower monthly gas rate, debt forgiveness, emergency heating equipment repair or replacement, and conservation measures depending upon individual circumstances. Enrollment is limited.

LOW INCOME CUSTOMER AFFORDABILITY ASSISTANCE PROGRAM (LICAAP)

If you meet the eligibility requirements, you can receive discounts of up to 70 percent off of the regular residential rate determined by household income and size. You can also receive matching debt forgiveness for timely bill payments up to 24 months. Customers with hearing or speech difficulties can communicate with us on electronic display (TTY or teletypewriter) by dialing 7-1-1. You may also call 1-800-662-1220 if you live in New York. You will need to provide the relay operator with the telephone number you wish to call.

For the visually impaired, we can send bills and bill inserts in large type or braille and some of our brochures may be requested in braille. National Fuel will send a representative to supply large numbered or braille thermostats at no cost when the need is verified.

National Fuel subscribes to a translation service that allows them to talk to non-English speaking customers. Ask for "Language Line" any time, in person or by phone. A three-way conversation with a translator is involved.

EXTRA SECURITY PLAN

The Extra Security Plan is for eligible customers who are retired or permanently disabled. It offers an extra measure of security for uninterrupted gas service. It includes coordinating bill due dates to coincide with the arrival of income checks to allow for timely payment.

SPECIAL PROTECTIONS

National Fuel offers special protections for New York customers who reside in households where all residents are age 62 or older, 18 or younger, blind or disabled. If you or anyone you know – parents, friends, neighbors – fit this description, please call 1-800-365-3234. Representatives will review the special protections program, as well as other assistance that may be available.

THIRD PARTY NOTIFICATION

For peace of mind, you can designate a third party to be notified in case you forget to pay your gas bills. You could choose a relative, friend, clergyman, or government agency. The designated third party is not responsible for paying your bill.

HOSPITALIZED CUSTOMER ASSISTANCE PLAN

The last thing you need to worry about when you're in the hospital is the due date on any bill. If you're anticipating a hospital stay of ten days or more, call to learn how to extend the due date of your gas bill by thirty days. If you're permanently disabled or retired, you may request an extra measure of security for uninterrupted gas service by coordinating bill due dates to coincide with the arrival of your pension or Social Security checks.

ASSISTANCE REFERRALS

If National Fuel is unable to resolve your payment problems, they will find community services that may assist you. The Outreach and Education Consultants can work together with social service agencies to help you determine if you're eligible for various public programs. Special company programs are also available for customers with extreme financial hardships.

IF YOU'RE OUT OF WORK

National Fuel representatives offer advice on programs and assistance available to customers who are unemployed or expecting a layoff. Please call for more information.

In addition, National Fuel can help you conserve energy to save money on your heating bills.

The Conservation Incentive Program (CIP) offers residential customers in National Fuel's Western New York service area a number of money-saving rebates when they replace specified appliances with energy-efficient models. Visit www.NationalFuelForThought.com for details. In addition, the Conservation Incentive Program includes free weatherization assistance for low-income customers. Customers who may be eligible for assistance through CIP will be identified by National Fuel and social service providers.

REDUCE YOUR HEATING BILLS

National Fuel offers the following tips for reducing your heating bills:

1. Keep the cold out. Reducing air leaks could cut as much as 10 percent from your monthly energy bill. Seal leaks around doors, windows and other openings such as pipes or ducts, with caulk or weather stripping.

The most common places where air escapes from homes are:

 - Floors, walls, ceilings
 - Ducts
 - Fireplace
 - Plumbing penetrations
 - Doors and Windows
 - Fans and vents
 - Electric outlets
2. Set thermostats between 65° and 70° during the winter and at 58° when away from the house for more than a few hours. While sleeping, add an extra blanket for warmth. Bear in mind that warmer temperatures are recommended for homes with infants or ill or elderly persons. Install a programmable thermostat to turn down temperatures automatically without sacrificing comfort. Savings: every degree you lower your thermostat should shave about 2 percent off your heating bill.
3. Change or clean furnace air filters once a month during the heating season. Furnaces consume less energy if they "breathe" more easily. Use the arrival of your natural gas bill as your reminder to change the filter.
4. Warm air rises, so use registers to direct warm air flow across the floor.
5. Close vents and doors in unused rooms and close the damper on your fireplace when it is not in use.
6. Set your water heater to 120°, or the medium temperature setting. You'll enjoy energy savings without reducing comfort. A family of four, each showering for five minutes a day, uses 700 gallons of water each week. Not surprisingly, water heating is a typical family's third largest energy expense, accounting for about 14 percent of the utility bill.
7. Install water-flow restrictors in showerheads and faucets.
8. If radiators are located near cold walls, place a sheet of aluminum foil between the radiator and the wall to reflect heat back into the room.
9. Run washing machines and clothes dryers only with a full load.
10. On sunny days, let in the sun's warmth. Open draperies and blinds on windows that receive direct sunlight. Close them at night or on cloudy days to insulate against the cold air outside.

Visit www.NationalFuelForThought.com for more information on reducing energy costs.

Another great way to save energy is to make sure your home is energy efficient. The New York State Weatherization Assistance program provides the following services at no cost to help eligible households become energy efficient: air sealing (weather-stripping, caulking), wall and ceiling insulation, heating system improvements or replacement, efficiency improvements in lighting, hot water tank and pipe insulation, and refrigerator replacements with highly efficient Energy Star rated units. Both single-family and multi-family buildings are eligible.

To find out if you qualify for assistance, contact a local weatherization provider listed below.

4. Wash your clothes in cold water.
5. Use only one refrigerator in your home.

7. Unplug chargers and laptops.

Water

The following tips can be used to save water and reduce your bill:

1. DISHWASHING Wash dishes in standing water after you wipe grease off dishes with a paper towel or cloth. Turn off faucet frequently, and you will save over 20 gallons of water a day. Soak pots and pans before washing.
2. TOOTH BRUSHING Don't let water run while you brush your teeth. Rinse your mouth with water in a glass and you will save over a gallon of water each time you brush.
3. SHOWER & BATH Take shallow baths and plug the drain before you run water. Keep showers short with pressure at low force. Bathe small children together. Reuse bath water to use on lawns and shrubs, and for heavy cleaning jobs (e.g. floors, cars, etc.).
4. SINK Fill bowl with water instead of letting water run when you wash or shave. Try a faucet aerator to reduce the amount of water used.
5. TOILET Flush only when necessary. Don't use as a wastebasket for cigarette butts or disposable diapers. Install water saving displacement devices.
6. LAUNDRY More than 10% of all water used in the home is used in the washing machine. Use the load selector to match water level to size of load. Try to wash full loads whenever possible. Presoak heavily soiled items. If buying a new washing machine, choose one with conservation features.
7. CLEANING Use a pail or basin instead of running water. Use sponge mops instead of string mops (uses less water for mopping and takes less water to keep clean).
8. LAWN & GARDEN Water slowly and thoroughly during cool, shady, and windless times of the day. Let grass grow taller in hot weather. Use mulch in the garden and around shrubs to conserve moisture. Plant shrubs that don't need a lot of watering.
9. CAR WASHING Wet car quickly, turn hose off, wash car from a bucket of soapy water, and rinse quickly with hose. Used water is fine for cleaning chrome, hubcaps, and wheels.
10. LEAK DETECTION Check the small red (leak detection) dial, found between the 7 & 8 on the face of the new water meter. If this dial is turning when you think the water is not being used, this indicates a leak somewhere inside the house. Also, check for leaks from the faucet. A slow drip can waste 15 to 20 gallons a day, fix it and save 6,000 gallons per year. Most leaks are caused by worn out washers, which often can be repaired by the homeowner.

Check for leaks from toilet tanks by putting a few drops of food coloring in the tank. Without flushing; wait 10 to 15 minutes; if the color shows up in the bowl, you have a leak. It's possible to lose up to 100 gallons a day from an "invisible leak" – that's more than 30,000 gallons per year. Nearly 90 percent of all residential leaks are leaks from toilet tanks.

Check for leaks from tub faucets and showers. Replacing old showerheads with low flow models can save 5 to 10 gallons per minute.

Detect for leaks on service lines by listening for a hissing noise at your water meter when no water is being used inside the house. You could have a water line that goes to another building, such as: (1) front house to rear building; (2) house to garage. If you suspect a problem, you should contact your plumber to check this out.

Resumé Writing

As you probably already know, a resumé helps you to tell potential employers what you have done, where you did it, and how successful you were. The most popular style of resumé is a chronological resumé, which lists your experiences in reverse chronological order—putting your last job first and working backward.

You may want to follow the format below to compose your resumé.

1. HEADING Your name, address, phone number, and email address (if you have one).
2. SUMMARY Write a brief summary of your work experience. State the job title you're seeking, your experience, what you do well, and your special skills (the items you brainstormed when reviewing your skills, strengths, and experience).
3. EXPERIENCE Make a list of the following items starting with your most recent job:
 - a. Places you've worked including city and state as well as the dates you worked there.
 - b. The title of every job you had at each place.
 - c. What you did at every job (responsibilities) and how well you did it (accomplishments)
 - d. Sort for relevance to position you are applying for at this time.
4. EDUCATION List schools and work-related courses.
5. OPTIONAL INFORMATION List specific skills, tools and equipment you know how to use, special awards, professional memberships, any foreign languages you speak, or other items to help you stand out.

The US Department of Labor, Employment and Training Administration's Career One Stop website also gives the following suggestions for writing your resumé:

- Be truthful. State your abilities accurately.
- Target your audience. Highlight skills and activities relevant to the job.
- Keep it brief. Limit your resumé to one or two pages, and use fewer words for scannability.
- Write and rewrite. Plan to write several versions of your resumé before it feels right.
- Be professional. Print your resumé on high-grade paper using a quality printer.
- Be accurate. Proofread your resumé (and have a friend do the same) for any errors.
- Follow up. Call or send a letter to the employer to restate your interest in the position.

Cover Letters

A COVER LETTER IS YOUR INTRODUCTION TO THE ORGANIZATION AND IS JUST AS IMPORTANT AS YOUR RESUMÉ. IT IS AN OPPORTUNITY TO PERSONALIZE YOUR RESUMÉ AND SELL YOUR SKILLS.

Include these important sections in your cover letter:

HEADING AND GREETING

Include the date, your name and your contact information.
Address the letter to a specific name and/or title whenever possible.

OPENING AND INTRODUCTION

Explain who you are and your reason for writing, including how you found out about the position.

BODY

Sell yourself. Reveal why you are a perfect and unique match for the position.
Explain why you have chosen the employer.

ASSERTIVE CLOSING

Politely take initiative toward further action and next contact.

Using Networks to Secure Jobs

Experts agree that spreading the word is the most important thing you can do when looking for a job. The more people who know what you can do and what you're looking for, the sooner you'll find something. Employers often hire people they hear about through the grapevine. What do you need to do?

- START SPREADING THE WORD with the people you know first.
- MAKE A LIST of all the people you can think of who might be able to help you find a job: family members, friends, acquaintances, neighbors, and coworkers.
- CALL THESE PEOPLE and ask them for advice and information. Here are some questions you might ask:
 - “These are the kinds of jobs I’ve been thinking about doing. Which of these do you think fit me best?”
 - “What places around here might have that kind of job?”
 - “Do you know anyone who works at any of those places?”
 - “Could you give me that person’s phone number so I could call and find out more about the company?”
- BE CAREFUL not to make people you are talking to feel uncomfortable by asking them directly to get you a job. What you want from friends and acquaintances is information, advice, and the name of someone else they know who works for a company that may have a position for someone with your skills.
- CALL THAT PERSON once you have this information and tell him or her that your friend suggested you call. Ask this person for some information about the company and advice about how to get a job there. This company insider may introduce you to a boss who will call you in for an interview when there is an opening.
- PREPARE AN INTRODUCTION STATEMENT to tell people about yourself in a brief, interesting way. What you say will be similar to the summary on your resumé.

SUCCESSFULLY NETWORKING

Follow this simple formula:

TELL PEOPLE WHAT YOU DO

Job title, experience, and where you have previously worked.

TELL PEOPLE WHAT YOU DO WELL ON THE JOB

Your accomplishments and successes.

TELL THEM SOMETHING SPECIAL ABOUT YOU

Your strengths, special skills, education, special training, and additional experience.

Interview Tips & Sample Questions

Some people are very nervous about interviews. Remember that it is just a conversation. You're interviewing them as much as they are interviewing you. Interviews give you a chance to find out if the company is one for which you really want to work. What do you need to do to be successful?

- Be prepared.
- Make sure you know how to get to the company. Map it online to be sure. Use www.google.com/maps.
- Plan to arrive 10-15 minutes early. Plan for traffic.
- Plan what you are going to wear. There are no fixed rules on what to wear. In general, men should wear a shirt with a collar and slacks. Women should wear a skirt or nice slacks and a blouse. If you're applying for a supervisor's job, a jacket might be appropriate. It's important that you and your clothes are clean and neat so you make a good impression.
- Bring extra copies of your resumé, your reference list, and copies of letters of recommendation and samples of your work, if appropriate.

Practice Answers to Typical Interview Questions

"Tell me about yourself."

Use your introductory statement.

"Why did you leave your last job?"

Be brief and answer this question in one or two sentences. Be truthful and avoid saying anything negative about your last job. For example, "My company went through a big downsizing. Our department was cut in half and my job was eliminated." Or "I reached the point where there was really no where else for me to go within the company. I felt it was time for me to move on to a better job for me."

"What are your strengths?"

You can use part of your introductory statement here or list a few of your skills and abilities. For example: "I am very dependable. I show up on time, work hard, and am willing to work overtime to get a job done." Or "I can use just about any piece of manual or automated machinery in the shop—lathes, mills, grinders—you name it. I use tools safely and I can work to precision specifications."

"What are your weaknesses?"

Think of a weakness that is not critical to success on the job. It may be useful to talk about something that you are aware of and working to improve. Keep your response short and move on to a more positive topic. For example, "I don't like to stand around with nothing to do. I'm not good at just waiting for the next task. I work best if I have a few low priority projects to do when times are slow."

"How did you get along with your last supervisor?"

Managers want to hire people who won't be a problem. Be positive and don't go into any problems you had with a supervisor in the past. For example: "I've had a lot of different supervisors and I've gotten along well with all of them. I have letters of recommendation from two of them. Would you like to see them?"

"Give me an example of your skills." Or: "Tell me about a time when..."

Prepare some stories that show how you used your skills on the job. Practice your stories out loud before the interview.

"We're really looking for someone with a two-year degree. It looks like you only have a high school diploma."

Before an interview, think about what specific questions an employer might have for you—not enough education or experience? Practice your responses. "When I graduated from high school, I had to start working. But I have always been interested in learning and have learned a lot on the job. I know how to do this work."

Questions to Ask the Employer

Prepare a few questions to ask the employer during your interview. You want to learn as much as you can about the job and what will be expected of you before you start work.

Be sure to research the organization ahead of time and ask only questions you could not find the answers to.

- What are the responsibilities and accountabilities of this position?
- How well is the position defined? Can its duties be expanded?
- Please describe an average day on this job.
- What is the history of the position? Why is it vacant?
- What aspects of this job would you like to see performed better?
- What are the key challenges or problems of this position?
- Where can I go from here, assuming that I meet/exceed the job responsibilities?
- How would you describe the ideal candidate?
- What are the employer's short - and long-range objectives?
- What are some outside influences that affect company growth?
- Where does the company excel? What are its limitations?
- When and how will I be evaluated? What are the performance standards?
- With whom would I be working? Who would be my supervisor? Who would I supervise?
- What is the department's environment like?
- When will you make the hiring decision? May I call you for the decision? When is a good time?

COMMON INTERVIEW QUESTIONS

Why are you interested in working for this company?

Why have you chosen this particular field?

Describe your best/worst boss.

In a job, what interests you most/least?

Give an example of how you solved a problem in the past.

How do others describe you?

What do you consider the most important idea you contributed or your most noteworthy accomplishment in your last job?

Where do you see yourself in three years?

Think about something you consider a failure in your life, and tell me why you think it happened.

How do you think you will fit into this operation?

If you were hired, what ideas/talents could you contribute to the position or our company?

Give an example where you showed leadership and initiative.

Give an example of when you were able to contribute to a team project.

What have you done to develop or change in the last few years?

Do you have any questions for me?

References

You may be asked to provide references when a company is seriously considering you for a job. This can give you an important edge in getting hired.

- Think of three to five people who might act as references for you—people who can vouch for your abilities, skills, good work habits, and good character.
- Ask them if they would be willing to give you a recommendation. Do not list them as references if they do not give you their permission.
- Type their name, job titles, and phone numbers on a piece of paper. Create a reference list to include the name, current job title, relationship to you, phone number, and email address. Submit your reference list only when requested by the prospective employer. Do not send it out with the resumé.

Risk Assessment

Below are some warning signs to look for in others you think may be considering suicide or other self-harm:

- Depression or other mental health issues
- Statements that indicate suicidal thoughts, such as “I don’t want to live anymore”
- Giving away favorite things, getting legal matters in order
- Suddenly feeling better after being severely depressed, stating something like “everything is ok” or “now I know what I have to do” or “now I see how to make everything better”
- In addition to the above symptoms, a person may be at greater risk if he or she has other relatives who have attempted or committed suicide

Let your friend know that someone is genuinely interested in their well-being.

If you believe that someone you know is considering suicide, do one or more of the following:

- Listen and allow your friend or relative to express their feelings to you.
- Keep the person talking.
- Try to determine if the person would attempt to harm him or herself by asking critical questions: Are they thinking of hurting themselves or others? Do they have a plan? Do they have access to items to fulfill that plan (such as weapons, medication)?
- Express interest and give support. Your friend needs to know that someone is genuinely interested in their well-being.
- Don’t judge and take him or her seriously.
- If you think a person is seriously considering suicide, get help, and do not leave him or her alone until you do.
- Urge the person to make the call to health professional.
- If he or she is already under the care of a health provider, have the person contact that provider first. If not, ask them to contact the local suicide hotline at Crisis Services, 24 hours a day, at 716-834-3131.
- Make the call yourself if the person cannot or will not. You may need to call the police if you believe that the risk is imminent.

IF YOU ARE HAVING THOUGHTS OF SUICIDE, LET SOMEONE KNOW.

If it is hard for you to talk directly to someone, write your thoughts down and let someone else read them. Talk to a trusted family member, friend, or call Crisis Services.

For immediate intervention for yourself or for someone you know who is considering suicide call Crisis Services 24 hours a day, at 716-834-3131 for help.
